The Stranger's Friend Society will hold its regular annual meeting on Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of the president, Mrs. Andrew Fuller. The Stranger's Friend Society is one of the oldest organizations in Honolulu. The good it has accomplished in its long existence has been large. It was the custom a long number of years ago to make the annual meeting a social one. That custom has been revived and the pleasure of the members. Monday afternoon's annual meeting will really be a revival of a Honolulu custom of 20 years ago.

The graceful "Waltz Muzurka," lately introduced in Honolulu by Madame

Lester, is meeting with great favor among society folks, and if local musicians will occasionally grant waltz music a much-needed change will be given to the dancing programs.

The one-step, Madame Lester declares, is absolutely ruinous for other dances, and Honolulu is away behind the times in not using waltz and fox-trot music; and then, the one-step is growing monotonous both to dancers and spectators. Many private clubs have been formed to learn this beautiful new dance, which introduces in one of the steps the past favorite, the waltz hesitation. The dance is easily learned in a couple of lessons.

SCHOFIELD SOCIETY

[Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence.]
SCHOOFIELD BARRACKS, May 6.—The week has been a gay one with three hops, Mrs. Faison's at home, the polo game and the dansant in the Mounted Service Club, and the reception given in welcome to Col. and Mrs. Hodges by the officers and ladies of the 1st Infantry, with a number of other delightful social events in between.

On Tuesday evening the regular weekly hop took place in the 1st Infantry pavilion, and was particularly enjoyed, as the 1st Infantry affairs always are. Before hop-time a very attractive hop-supper was given by Lieut. and Mrs. Fred Pitts, who entertained for 18 guests. Statly white chrysanthemums were used in the decorations of the several tables which were lighted with yellow-shaded candles. At each lady's cover was found a dainty corsage bouquet of sweet peas and ferns.

On Wednesday evening Maj. and Mrs. Horace Bloombergh were hosts at dinner before the Mounted Service hop. Three tables were placed in the living rooms, at which the guests were seated, American Beauties roses making fragrant center decorations for the perfectly appointed tables. A delightful feature of the decoration was the charmingly combined corsage bouquets found at each of the lady's places, quaint, old-fashioned bouquets of sweet peas, forget-me-nots and heartsease. The guests were Col. and Mrs. Frank Keefer, Capt. and Mrs. Augustine McIntyre, Capt. and Mrs. Henry S. Kilbourne, Lieut. and Mrs. Jerome Pillow, Capt. and Mrs. Clyde B. Crusan, Lieut. and Mrs. Kerr T. Riggs and Lieut. and Mrs. Harold Vandevier.

Mrs. Samson Lane Faison was a gracious hostess of Tuesday afternoon, when she received her friends of the garrison from 4 to 6 o'clock. The hospitable Faison quarters were thrown open and her guests enjoyed a most delightful social hour with dancing to the music of the 25th orchestra. Mrs. Faison will continue these pleasant afternoons through May when her friends will be welcomed on every Wednesday.

Last Friday evening Lieut. and Mrs. Robert Harbold entertained at dinner before the 25th hop. A low bowl of cut crystal filled with light blue hydrangeas made a dainty and effective centerpiece, while the blue tints of the flowers were reflected in the cards marking the places. White unshaded tapers lit the hospitable board, around which were seated Capt. and Mrs. Americus Mitchell, Lieut. and Mrs. Donald Hay, Lieuts. Howard Milligan and Eugene Robinson and Lieut. and Mrs. Harbold.

Mrs. Thomas Lowe gave a delightful bridge tea on Wednesday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Thomas Schley, who has just recently joined the garrison. The pivoting game of auction was enjoyed during the early hour of the afternoon, and after the game's conclusion a number of guests was augmented by those who do not play bridge, but who are such charming company at tea. The bridge prizes were won by Mesdames George Bailey, Samson L. Faison, E. H. Hartnett, Charles H. Rice and Albert White, who were rewarded for their high scores with dainty pairs of Canton china candlesticks. Mrs. Schley, as the honor guest, was given a Canton china ben bon bowl. An attractive color scheme of yellow was carried out in the dining-room, where tea was served. Presiding over the tea cups was Mrs. Henry Hodges, while Mrs. Edward Carey served a delicious salad, these ladies being assisted by Mesdames J. S. Cecil, Walter Pridgen, Clyde Crusan and Byard Sneed. Other guests were Mesdames Frank Albright, Frank Keefer, Frances Lacey, Crandall, Henry Lantry, William E. Shedd, Walter Short, Charles Daly, Ellen Jordan, George Harrison, Robert Duennner, Harry Blasland, Walter Greacen, Joseph Janda, Elvid Hunt, Lewis Sorley, John D. Burnett and Frank Halstead.

On Thursday Mrs. John Guilfoyle entertained with a bridge luncheon. Two large tables were placed in the dining and living rooms, at each of which were seated 14 guests. The lovely yellow lilies made a brilliant decoration for one, while red Transvaal daisies were used effectively on the other. After enjoying a delicious luncheon six tables were formed for bridge. At the close of the afternoon it was found that the high scores were held by Mesdames Frederick Strong, Walter Short, Seth Scofield, Robert Cheney and Roland Gaugler, and the prizes were artistic corsage flowers of silk and velvet in several colors, for evening wear. Mrs. William Nalle was the lucky winner of the consolation, which was cut for, the prize being another of the attractive flowers. These who enjoyed Mrs. Guilfoyle's delightful affair were Mesdames Frederick Strong, Henry Hodges, William Forsyth, Walter Short, Daniel Guinty, John Fair, Leonard Prunty, Gordon Kimball, Clarence Day, Allen Smith, Jerome Pillow, Swift Martin, Ker Riggs, John Herr Chalmers Hall, Charles Naylor, W. H. McGill, William Nalle, John Peniface, Roland Gaugler, Seth Scofield, Ernest Cullum, Howard Estes, Sherrard Coleman, Robert Cheney and George Callender.

The Thursday Morning Reading Club met with Mrs. Kerr T. Riggs this week.

On Thursday afternoon the polo game took place between the teams of the 1st Field Artillery and the 4th Cavalry, the event proving one of the prominent social affairs of the week with a large number of enthusiastic spectators from all of the five cantonments. During the intermissions tea and sandwiches were served. Mrs. Augustine McIntyre and Mrs. William McCleave acting as hostesses for the afternoon. At the close of the game many went to the Club Pavilion in the Mounted Service post, where an informal but thoroughly enjoyed dance took place.

There were quite a number of attractive dinners and suppers given in the garrison on the night of the reception and hop for Col. and Mrs. Hodges, prominent among these was a supper given by Col. and Mrs. Misses Nicholson. This was in the nature of the buffet supper with sixty guests present, among them being Colonel S. D. Sturges, Col. and Mrs. Frank Keefer, Capt. and Mrs. Denis Currie, Captain and Mrs. Raymond Pratt, Captain and Mrs. John Corey, Captain and Mrs. Joseph Janda, Captain and Mrs. Pelham Glassford, the Misses Dorothy Forsyth, Dorothy Palmer, Mildred Ponting and Hortense Short, Lieut. and Mrs. John Herr, Lieut. and Mrs. Kerr Riggs, Lieut. and Mrs. Howell Estes, Lieut. and Mrs. Ernest Cullum, Lieut. and Mrs. Robert Harbold, Lieut. and Mrs. James Chaney, Lieut. and Mrs. Charles Daly, Mrs. Ellen Jordan, Mrs. Henry Lantry, Mrs. Joseph Daly, Lieut. and Mrs. William McCleave, Lieut. and Mrs. Percy Deshon, Lieut. and Mrs. John Hauser, Lieut. and Mrs. Lyerly, Harold Huntley, Edward Rose, Charles Bankard, William McCulloch, Frank Schneider, James Uilo, V. V. Enyart, Robert Snow, John Simons, Roy Jones, Daniel Murphy and Eugene Lohman.

Dr. and Mrs. Albert White entertained at dinner for ten on Friday. Pink was chosen for the color scheme of the daintily appointed table, which had for centerpiece a bowl of blush roses, whose tints were visible in the silken shaded candelabra. Covers were placed for Lieut. and Mrs. Charles Everitt, Lieut. and Mrs. John D. Burnett, Lieut. and Mrs. Karl Truesdell, Lieut. and Mrs. John Reardan and the host and hostess.

Lieut. and Mrs. William E. Shedd were dinner hosts on this evening entertaining for Lieut. and Mrs. Charles Rice, Lieut. and Mrs. Harold Vandevier.

Captain and Mrs. George Kumpke gave one of the Friday dinners, their party later attending the hop in the 1st Infantry Club. Their guests were Captain and Mrs. Augustine McIntyre, Captain and Mrs. Edward Carey, Capt. and Mrs. Clyde Crusan, Captain and Mrs. Harry Knight and Lieut. and Mrs. Jerome Pillow.

Mrs. Albert White was a bridge hostess on Friday of last week. Mrs. Charles Everitt of the 1st Infantry, who is soon to leave Hawaii for the coast, being the guest of honor. The lucky winners of the high scores at bridge were Mesdames George Bailey, Edward Carey, Fred Pitts, Charles Rice and Miss Hortense Short, and the very acceptable prizes were silk stockings. Mrs. Everitt was presented with a lovely Satsuma vase. At tea time a number of other ladies came in and contributed toward the delightfully social hour. In the dining room where the delicious refreshments were served the decorative motif was apparent in the beautiful combination of Easter lilies and roses which formed the centerpiece of the tea table, where Mrs. Hodges poured tea assisted by Mrs. William Aiken. Tall pink gladioli in crystal vases were used in the decorations of the living room. The guests present were Mesdames Frank Halstead, Harry Blasland, Robert Duennner, Byard Sneed, Harry Knight, John Reardan, Clyde Crusan, Joseph Janda, Edward Carey, E. H.
